With the right tools all things are possible!

Many people come to our lectures because they are searching for answers to their personal issues or that of their family's. We invite questions because they may apply to others as well. Often you'll hear answers you have never heard before because we have designed most of the remedies for the cause of problems rather than to temporarily patch them. We want the solutions to last you a lifetime (without a lifetime of remedies).

David Alan Slater, founder and director of Healers Who Share, an international organization with offices in Colorado, Germany, Norway, Canada and Australia, is a pioneer of cutting-edge research and development in the field of vibrational medicine and the nature of disease and healing. His team of research associates continues to find solutions to many commonly known, but thought incurable, health issues. Combining the results of academic research, medical information, case histories, intuition and prayer, Healers Who Share has discovered countless answers to issues considered chronic and incurable. David presents practical, clinically relevant information in a clear, interactive and engaging format. Learn how you can bring a new level of wellness to all aspects of your body; address common, complex and challenging health issues with simple solutions and remedies.

This is a very special opportunity but space is limited!
